

An aerial photograph of South Beach, Miami, Florida. The image captures the coastline from the ocean on the left to the city skyline on the right. The beach is wide and sandy, with many people and umbrellas scattered across it. The water is a vibrant turquoise color near the shore, transitioning to a deeper blue further out. A large cruise ship is docked at a pier on the left. The city skyline features several prominent skyscrapers, including the Freedom Tower. The sky is a clear, bright blue.
